ARTONE BLUETOOTH NECKLOOP FOR THE HARD OF HEARING

Hearing aid users often have difficulty communicating on a cell phone due to a number of reasons, including interference that is created when the cell phone is brought close to the hearing aid. The Artone Bluetooth Neckloop enables hearing aid users to avoid interference from the cell phone by moving the phone to a "safe" distance from the hearing aid. During a call, a signal from the cell phone is wirelessly sent to the Bluetooth Neckloop, where it gets processed, cleared, amplified and then sent to the user's hearing aid. The hearing aid processes the signal once again and adjusts it to the user's personal level. For sound outgoing from the user, the signal is captured by the Bluetooth Neckloop microphone, it gets processed, cleared by cutting the unnecessary background noises, it is amplified and then the signal is sent to the user's handset. That process enables both parties of the conversation to hear clearly. The entire process is wireless and hands free. Charge in a standard A/C electrical outlet, using your computer's USB port, or in the car lighter. All chargers are included. Comes with a black face in place plus extra faceplates in red, blue and silver. Just insert your favorite color and swap them in and out as the mood strikes you! They can be interconnected with up to 24 alarms (we recommend using connecting alarms made by the same manufacturer) throughout your home. Non-emergency or “nuisance” alarms can be silenced with the “Hush” button. 85dB alarm along with a vocal announcement, sounds loudly, alerting the household to a fire or high carbon monoxide levels.

The carbon monoxide detector uses an electrochemical sensor. UL listed. Includes bilingual (English/Spanish) instructions, 9V battery and a 5-year limited warranty.

The 120V AC Wire-In Strobe Light makes a perfect visual alert for the deaf or hard of hearing person with a bright 177 candela power flashing once per second. Quick connect snap-on harness makes installation easy. LED light verifies that unit is receiving power. UL listed. Comes with owner’s manual and a 5-year limited warranty. Please note: The strobe light is a visual signaling device with no detection means of its own and must be interconnected with a Kidde smoke or carbon monoxide alarm to function properly.

PERSONAL FM SYSTEMS PFM300E/350E

Too often, people with hearing difficulties have the challenge of learning compounded by background noise. To help, Williams Sound developed the HEARING HELPER Personal FM System.

How It Works: These Personal FM Systems are designed to broadcast the teacher's voice directly to the ears of individual students. While the teacher wears a compact transmitter and microphone, students use portable receivers and earphones to hear the teacher clearly and easily, even from the back of the classroom.

Easy To Setup & Use: The PFM 300E and PFM 350E systems operate on 2 AA batteries and include the PFM T32 Transmitter and portable receiver. The PFM 350E's portable receiver includes an environmental microphone. Both systems operate over a range of 150' for about 10 hours per charge. The T32 Transmitter and R31 and R32 receivers are field-tunable over 10 wideband channels. 5 year mfg. warranty on transmitter & receiver, 90 days on accessories. Please use only rechargeable batteries with charger.

Hearing Aid Use: Receivers can be used with a hearing aid, single or dual earphone, headphones, or custom earmold drivers to suit a wide range of hearing losses. An optional neckloop telecoil coupler is available for use with telecoil-equipped hearing aids.
